

FLOWER MAGNETS

Print the flower board on card stock

Glue small round magnetic discs to the back of the flowers BUT attach them so that some are negative (will push another magnet away) and some positive (will stick to another magnet.)

Attach the flower board to a wall.

Mark six additional magnets with corresponding colors to the flowers.

Mark a short distance from the board.

Each child gets a turn to throw the magnets at the board, trying to get their magnet to stick to a flower of the same color as marked on the magnet.

The fun begins as some magnets will push away and some attach. No one knows which will attach and which will push away.

Give out prizes to those who manage to get 3 or more magnets to attach to the correct color flower.
